

Make Your Animal Companion A Star

The foods our animals eat don't have to be the same-sized, brownish bites that many animals eat day in and day out. Good nutrition is as important for our animal companions' health as it is for our own.

Our first recipe book "Breakfast, Dinner and Everything in Between", in which you will find wonderful recipes that will help you to 'spice' up your animal companions' daily meals, was such a success, that we decided to publish another one.

If you would like to be part of something new and want to make your animal companion a star, send us a recipe of your animal companion's favorite meal, treat or whatever he or she likes, and share it with the world.

Recipe submission:

Good nutrition is very important for our animal companion's health as well, so please choose a healthy and yummy recipe.

Please use one submission for each recipe and animal companion. You may include animals that have 'moved on' as well. Submit as many recipes as you want.
